

Ethnicity Training Network

Cultural competence in health and social care:

An in-depth module for managers, diversity leads and potential trainers

This module is part of the Masters in Public Health course and will be offered in the academic year 2008/9. The module will cover:

- Introduction to cultural competence
- Engaging with minority ethnic and religious communities
- Planning and acting for change
- Reviewing and measuring services and outcomes (service user satisfaction; ethnic monitoring)

Areas for in depth study:

The course will draw on the most recent evidence on ethnicity, health and social care in the following areas:

- Disability and chronic illness
 - Learning Disabilities
 - Diabetes
 - CHD
 - Neurological conditions
 - Genetic conditions
 - Mental health
- Gender
- Age: elderly people, children and young people
- Religion
- Socio-economic class and poverty